RESEARCH GUIDE

Chinese Canadian Studies

February 2006

Welcome to the Chinese Canadian Studies Resource Guide.

Both electronic and printed resources are included to help you with research on topics related to Chinese in Canada. The printed resources can be found in the Cheng Yu Tung East Asian Library, Robarts Library, and other University of Toronto libraries.

The list of resources presented in this guide is selective, and the majority of them are available at the University of Toronto Libraries. The guide includes selective monographs on the different subject areas and a brief introduction of electronic resources on Chinese Canadian studies.

Books

The subject coverage of the Chinese Canadian Studies in the books selected for this guide is diverse and includes a variety of topics.

The book titles are organized according to topics that reflect the major area of study of the book.

Websites

The Chinese Canadian National Council

[English]

[URL: <http://www.ccnc.ca>]

The Chinese Canadian National Council provides users with background information related to Chinese Canadian history and also provides insight into Chinese culture. The CCNC has been an organization that has advocated awareness of Chinese contribution to Canadian society and it has been taking the lead for a formal redress of the Head Tax by the Federal government.

Historical Chinese Language Materials in British Columbia: An Electronic Inventory

[English]

[URL: <http://www.sfu.ca/davidlamcentre/hclmbc/>]

This website provides information and links related to Chinese Canadian history with heavy emphasis on the province of British Columbia. This site is good for those seeking general information or for a simplified version of the complex history of Chinese immigrants in Canada. There are links to information about the Gold Rush, the establishment of Barkerville and the Chinese contribution to the society among other topics.

Chinese Canadian Genealogy

[English]

[URL: <http://www.vpl.ca/ccg>]

This site gives background information about Chinese immigration to Canada and it also informs on how to read and how to look for primary documents relating to the Chinese in Canada. This is a good place for general background and information on primary sources.

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation

[English]

[URL: http://www.cbc.ca/news/background/china/chinese_immigration.html]

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's website has information on Chinese immigration to Canada. It profiles the hardships and the dire living conditions that the Chinese were subjected to when they first arrived in the country.

Databases

E-journal articles and other e-resources related to Chinese Canadian studies.

Some e-journal databases that UofT Libraries subscribed to contain full-text articles on Chinese Canadian studies. They cover topical studies on history and political, socio-economic conditions of Chinese immigrants as well as their cultural adaptations to the Canadian society. A short list of relevant articles are selected from the databases, such as JSTOR, EBSCO, ProQuest, and Gale/Thompson. Some of them are degree dissertations or thesis. There are a few articles also selected from journals like Macleans, Canadian Business, and Canadian Journal of Education. They have been grouped together according to their subjects.
